EV40 Chicago Bulls vs. Dallas Mavericks

7:00 PM

United Center

Price per person $75

Make your way to the house that Michael Jordan built. The United Center is a state of the art sports facility with all the amenities. Thousands flock to the city's West Side for each Bulls home game, but it isn't just about watching basketball – it's about experiencing the job of the game. Past legends like Michael Jordan and Magic Johnson have battled here and future legends entertain every night.

The Bulls made a statement in 2014 by making it to the first round playoffs. Although they fell short to the Washington Wizards, they showed that they will be a contender for years to come. Just like any off-season, it's time for teams to reflect on the previous season and find areas to improve. The good thing for Chicago is there isn't much that needs to be done. For the most part, the Bulls have a young, core group of players who are still getting better with each game. Regardless of this season's record or the night's final score, fans can rest assured that they will leave with a smile on their face.

(Bull tickets must be picked up at the Palmer House tour desk. Transportation to the United Center is not included.)

7:30 PM Performance Time

Redemption is hard to find. Porgy and Bess is the great American opera – bursting with iconic songs that have moved easily into the worlds of jazz and pop, and became hits for generation after generation. Six years after its triumphant Lyric debut, Francesco Zambello's big, beautiful, epic production returns with its finely etched portrait of life in Catfish Row – a vibrant but impoverished African-American community on the South Carolina coast.

There's Crown, the brutish thug; Sportin' Life, the smooth-talking drug peddler; Bess, the good-time girl who finally finds love with the goodhearted Porgy; and Porgy himself, the lame beggar who's the strongest of them all – an unquenchable spirit who'll stop at nothing to reclaim the woman he loves.

28. Chicago Sculpture Walking Tour (English)

9:30 AM – 12:00 PM

Price per person: $35

Take in Chicago's vast array of beautiful public art on display 365 days a year. Artists and communities around the world continue the tradition of erecting monuments to commemorate events and people of importance. Chicago is no exception. Monuments were erected in the city before the city's incorporation in 1837, a tradition that continues to the present day. The installation of the Chicago Picasso inspired a cultural renaissance, which evoked a public interest in private and public investment in public art. Chicago has become a "sculpture gallery" displaying works by many world-renowned artists. The city's collection of outdoor sculpture is as distinguished as its world-class architecture. However, public art in Chicago far exceeds sculptures installed in the downtown area.

Encompassing all areas of the visual arts, it is exhibited in municipal buildings and neighborhoods citywide. Discover the changing relationships between architecture and sculpture and learn how artists and architects collaborate in creating successful public art.

United Center

Price per person $140

The United Center isn't just for basketball... Make your way to the house that Michael Jordan built to cheer on the 2013 Stanley Cup Champions in a battle on the ice! The United Center is a state-of-the-art sports facility with all the amenities guaranteed to make your game viewing experience unforgettable. Thousands flock to the city's West Side for each home Blackhawks game. Nothing thrills more than the sound of the puck hitting the goal after a slap shot and the announcement of "GOAL!" by the ref. Stars of this year's team were Patrick Kane and Jonathan Toews, whose fancy footwork on the ice and skillful handling of the puck resulted in over 37 goals between the two of them this past season, getting to the final round before being defeated by the LA Kings, who went on to win the cup. This fast paced sport is high energy and intense. Regardless of the night's final score, fans can rest assured that they will leave with a smile on their face.

(Blackhawks tickets must be picked up at the Palmer House tour desk. Transportation to the United Center is not included.)
